Candidates Are Looking Around

Tinning and Johnston Contest Will Be Hot One

The contest for District Attorney is developing some "acute" angles. It is surprising how that young fellow Tinning is gaining strength with the workingmen of Richmond.

Tom Johnston is successful campaigner, but "Tom, old boy," look out for "Tini!"

Senator Breed, candidate for the lieutenant-governorship, has returned from a trip in the San Joaquin valley and reports the political situation apathetic. He says that the people are interested in the war, which overshadows everything else. Breed is against the saloon, and for the vineyards. He thinks the booze question is automatically solving itself, and does not believe in "cutting the rotten out of the apple at one time."

There will be some "also rans" when Zeb comes in under the wire with about seven hundred majority over all "slow horses."

"There is nothing to it," says Al Browning, candidate for constable. In fact there seems to be no one running against Al. A fine mesh sieve will be necessary to find A's opponent.

B. A. Montoya of San Pablo, is a pioneer of that locality, born and brought up there. He is a candidate for constable of San Pablo, 19th Township. Mr. Montoya is an excellent man for the office he seeks, and fully qualified in every detail connected with the position. He is a winner.

F. Mole of Eureka, who has been in the employ of a Richmond carpenter, left for his northern home Monday.

Alameda Co. Leads Us in Candidates

In Alameda county there is from two to five candidates for each office. How different in Contra Costa. With the exception of sheriff and district attorney, the whole "in-voice" is elected for four years more service.

Fraternal Insurance Is

A drive is on in California for the enactment of a compulsory health insurance law similar to the one which Bismarck put in force in Germany and which, together with other laws of a like nature, Ambassador Girard says, has reduced the wage earners of that country almost to a condition of serfdom.

One of the first effects of this forced insurance would be to destroy the splendid system of voluntary insurance now conducted by lodges, fraternal societies, and other organizations. This danger was pointed out at the convention of the Knights of Pythias just held in the city of Oakland, several prominent members of the organization denouncing the proposition, and none defending it.

Will C. Wood

Will C. Wood, candidate for the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction, was among the visitors in the city Tuesday. He was here making friends in the interest of his candidacy and made a most favorable impression. Mr. Wood will be the only candidate from the northern part of the State in this race. He has two opponents, both of whom come from the south. Mr. Wood is a native of Solano county and has many staunch friends in this section.

Wanted—A good philanthropist, one who will take a tired out newspaper man into the mountains where speckled trout and water cress are plentiful, and give him a good time.

War Saving Stamps are a good investment. You can't lose.

California's Quota Is Large This Year

Allotments totaling $2,307,460.44 have been made by the federal board for vocational education for the fiscal year under the Smith-Hughes vocation act. This is $651,873.72 over last year. Under the law the different states are required to duplicate the sum allotted them.

Four Years Hence

The county election in 1922, four years hence, will be a "grand surprise," said a veteran forerunner of events political to a Terminal representative, in speaking of the present situation in regard to the "scarcity of candidates" for county offices. The boys from over there will be home by then—thousands of them—and they can have anything they ask for, and then some.

"Hot Dog" Has Some Nourishment

The Germans are not only wearing paper underwear and eating the bark of elm trees for nourishment, but they are subsisting on the "bark" in the wiener, that favorite and popular accessory to the stein of beer.

No Houses for Families

There are many inquiries for houses, and it is impossible for the workingmen to secure accommodations in Richmond, Albany or any of the suburban districts. It is predicted that a building campaign will soon start, as many are forced to accept crude and improvised quarters for their families.

Need Practical Efficiency

The recent advance of approximately 25 per cent in all charges, following an advance of 15 per cent in freight rates for the eastern roads last year, is timely evidence that services rendered by governments are not free, but have to be paid for like services rendered by individuals and corporations, and that the question whether it is better to have the roads operated by the government or by private parties is one of practical efficiency. Mercantile National Bank of San Francisco.

State Fair

The State Fair opens August 31. Five county fairs, all of them with livestock exhibitions as their main feature, will be held during the month before. They are: the Monterey County Agricultural Association Fair at Salinas, July 30 to August 3; Ukiah Fair, August 5 to 10; Ferndale Fair, August 19 to 24; San Joaquin County Fair at Stockton, August 22 to 24; also, Napa County Fair, August 22 to 24.

Election Pointers.

If you have not registered this year up to July 27, you cannot vote at the primaries August 27.

In voting for governor, lieutenant governor, senator or assemblyman, party affiliation must be stated.

If you have not stated same and wish to do so, apply to the registrar at once.

Those who have no party affiliations may register with the dominant party.

Babe Is There

"Baby" Healy of Richmond has all the kid dancers backed off the boards for class. She has the grace, the time, the perfect contour and attractiveness that appeals at once to the critic.

FOR SALE—$25—Shack and fence posts—all for $25; no damage must be done to sidewalk in removing the above. Shack and posts at Evelyn, bet. Dartmouth and east side of creek, Albany. For information call at Argus office, or phone Berkeley 3921.

Mothers' Club Take Action on "Boxes"

It is said the Mothers' Club of Richmond passed resolutions at a recent meeting in regard to "camouflaged" candy store booths, where young girls are inveigled and "furnished rooms" are accessible via side doors and secret passages without attracting the attention of the public.

The Terminal's issue of the 19th called attention to the inconsistency of an ordinance that permits a blind box or booth in a candy store and prohibits the same in a restaurant, cafe or drinking place.

It is said the resolution above referred to will be submitted to the city council for "inspection."

Horse Fell on Him

Mr. Nunes of San Pablo Creek was seriously injured Wednesday by a horse which he was riding falling on him. The injured man was taken to Craven hospital where he was treated, and is now reported on the way to recovery.

Jimmy Sharp is now an employee of the S. O. "Jim" is OK since the vacation at Guernville. No malaria now.

The Terminal newspaper is on file in all public libraries in the bay district and Contra Costa county.

Elcho Club

The Elcho Club is giving some attractive dancing parties, the jazz band of the club furnishing the best of dance music, which is essential to draw the lovers of terpsichore when so many attractions are on the boards.

The Gubernatorial Race

The opinion is ventured by some who claim to be political forecasters, that Governor Stephens is up against it in the gubernatorial race, and will be numbered among the "also rans." It is claimed that in either case—whether he extends clemency to money or not, he will lose the workingman's support.

Since Mayor Rolph announced his candidacy and the endorsements he is receiving all over the state, it looks like the main show would be conducted by the San Francisco mayor and Francis J. Heney.

Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco has announced his candidacy for governor. Mayor Rolph is a constructive man, a big ship builder and is doing big things to help win the war. He has the endorsement of the workingmen. He is a popular candidate.

Work or Fight

A press dispatch says: "Pittsburg—Pitcher Paul Perritt of New York Nationals received notice from his draft board at Shreveport, La., to show cause why he should not engage in essential employment under work-or-fight ruling. Third Baseman William McKechnie of the Pittsburg Nationals received similar summons from his board here. Both will appeal." It is hard to understand how baseball can be figured as a legitimate excuse to evade the work-or-fight rule when there is crying need for workmen at all lines.

HER TITIAN HAIR.

The matron of the hospital repeatedly told the nurses to be sure to dry as well as clean the instruments "If you don't dry them thoroughly they will rust," she had said so often.

And the little girl, the star patient, they called her, who had been there so long, knew all the instructions, rules and regulations by heart, and especially this piece of advice and direction.

A new nurse entered the hospital not long ago. Her hair was of a gorgeous red. It was the envy of all.

"How did you ever get hair of such a wonderful color?" asked one of the nurses, maliciously.

"It's quite natural," the new nurse replied quietly.

But the little girl called out from her bed: "I know how she got it. She washed it and didn't dry it well—like the instruments, and it rusted—it did!"—New York Mail.

The Lavails Write From Wyoming

The Lavails, aerial artists who make Albany their home when not on the road, and who left here via automobile for the east last week, write this paper from Laramie, Wyoming, that they are making good time, notwithstanding the floods which they encountered. They are well and enjoying the trip, and are due to arrive in Chicago tomorrow.

O'Connor Calls

Candidate O'Connor, who is in the race for assemblyman from this district, was a Terminal caller yesterday. He is looking fine, and expects to make a strong bid for the office to which he aspires.

There With the Goods That Count

Zeb Knott will have a walk over for re-election is the opinion of every voter in the First who is acquainted with Zeb and his fine qualities. He has the confidence of his constituents because he is there with the goods that count, viz: Business ability, integrity, activity, and an unbiased and broad vision which at once makes him your friend. Supervisor Knott has made good, and more. The people want him to stay on the job.

Hoey Resigns As Deputy Collector

County Tax Collector Martin W. Joost has accepted the resignation of his chief deputy, James F. Hoey, who resigned to enter the office of Creel, Jones & Dahl in San Francisco, where he will practice law for that firm. Mr. Hoey was admitted to the bar several years ago, studying law while in the employ of the tax collector's office. Mr. Hoey has made a competent deputy, and it is with regret that his friends learn he has resigned. Mr. Joost has appointed Miss Cluribel Lowe, his stenographer, to succeed Hoey.

VISION OF SUMMER

Mr. Bug—When the grocer told me that soap would float it didn't take me long to dope out this scheme.

Woman's Economy.

Mrs. Styles—Women are more economical than men.

Mr. Styles—I don't believe it. "You often hear of a bride being married in the same gown that her mother was married in."

"That's true."

"But you never heard of a man being married in the clothes his father was married in."

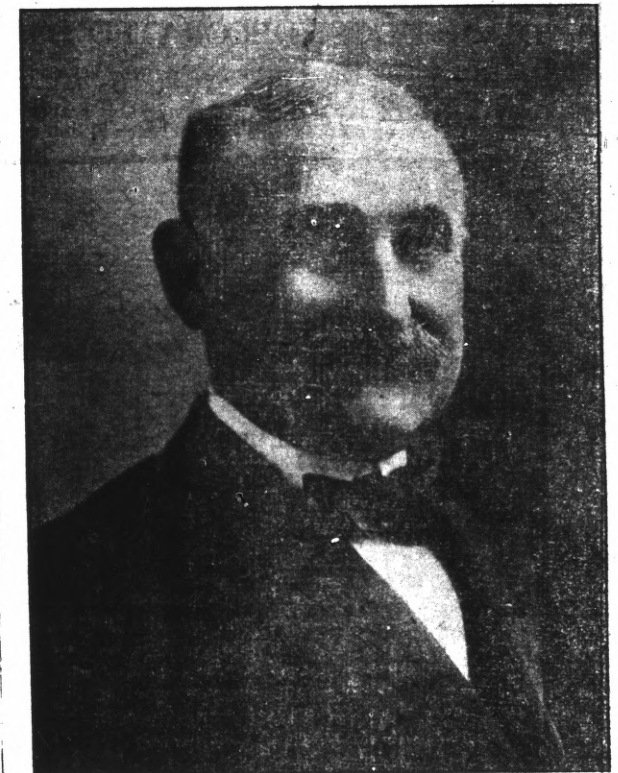

Not So Altruistic.

"I'm working hard to get several of my friends on an investigating committee," announced Congressman Fluhdrub.

"That shows good fellowship on your part. What is the committee going to investigate?"

About the Little General

General R. R. Veale never overlooks his old friends. The Terminal acknowledges the courtesy of his call the other day, and quotes from The Terminal of even date four years ago:

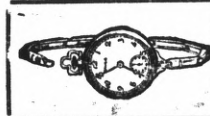

"Veale was a farmer in early days, and assisted his dad in the blacksmith shop setting tires. He could run into a bonfire with a pair of tongs and grab a red hot tire quicker than any college sprinter could make a start in a 50-yard sprint." But this is not all. Veale is sort of a general manager for the whole county, where they all say: "Let Veale do it," when they want anything done in the Legislature, Congress, Central California or anywhere.

And Veale always gets away with the feathers, including the state and doge (chief) of his craft. He has been secretary of the Sheriff's Association of California for twenty-four years. He is dean of the law offices of the state and doge (chief) of his craft. Without Veale in the sheriff's office there would be a feeling of loneliness in Contra Costa county that could only be counteracted by the interest taken in the war.

Richard Veale is a good sheriff, a kindly neighbor, HONEST and competent to give the best of service. This is not only the opinion of The Terminal, but of a wide circle of friends state-wide in scope.

SAN FRANCISCO PORT BUSINESS ABOUT DOUBLE THAT OF SEATTLE

San Francisco—Frank G. White, chief engineer of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners announced last Saturday that in order to settle beyond all question the argument now engaging shipping men regarding San Francisco and Seattle's claim to the port supremacy of the Pacific Coast, he had prepared data from the official reports of each city's port commission.

The report of the engineer is contained in a communication to the commissioners and follows:

"To the Board of State Harbor Commissioners:

"I have prepared some comparative figures concerning harbor development and harbor operation in San Francisco and Seattle which may be of interest.

"As you know, a campaign of construction and reconstruction was inaugurated in 1911 and 1912, which was continued to the present time. About the same time the Seattle Port Commission was organized and commenced its construction activities. The figures which follow show the progress which has been made in the two harbors since 1912, as well as the total tonnage handled and the tonnage per square foot of pier area:

San Francisco—Pier Area	Berthing
1912 1,729,389 sq. ft. 32,068 lin. ft.
1918 4,378,220 sq. ft. 54,098 lin. ft.

Gain . . . 2,448,831 sq. ft. 22,030 lin. ft.

Seattle Port Commission built since 1912:

Pier area, 1,219,280 square feet; berthing, 11,355 linear feet.

Tonnage (1917)—San Francisco, 9,632,078 tons; Seattle, 4,860,647 tons.

Area over which cargo was handled in 1917—Seattle, 2,052,480 square feet.

The statement of area over which cargo was handled in 1917 was taken from the report of the Port of Seattle Commission, and covers both the public owned and privately owned commercial structures.

The statement of tonnage handled per square foot was based on the figures of available cargo area exclusive of the warehouse area above mentioned, although the latter area was undoubtedly of greater advantage in handling cargo promptly and efficiently. I have not compared the tonnage figures previous to 1917, as they were not given on the last Seattle report.

SEVENTEEN KILLED, THIRTY INJURED WHEN TRAINS COLLIDE IN MICHIGAN

Jackson, Mich.—Seventeen persons were killed and thirty others injured, many seriously, when a Detroit-bound limited passenger car and a westbound freight car collided head-on one mile west of Chelsea at 8:30 o'clock last Sunday night, according to information received from that city. Six of the dead were Detroit soldiers en route to Detroit from Camp Custer.

RALPH C. HARRISON DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Was Well-known Lawyer and Former Supreme Court Justice

San Francisco—Ralph P. Harrison, San Francisco lawyer, former Supreme Court Justice and Chief Justice of the Appellate Court and oldest member of the Bohemian Club, died Thursday evening, July 18, at his apartments, 1405 Van Ness Avenue after a brief illness at the age of 84.

Judge Harrison came to California fifty-two years ago and has been continuously active in the affairs of the city and a leader of the California bar. He was born at Cornwall, Conn., October 22, 1833. His education was received at Wesleyan Institute, Middletown, Conn. and Albany Law School, Albany, N. Y. In San Francisco, half a century ago, he founded the law firm of Jarboe & Harrison and an attorney gained fame in many noted cases.

In 1905 Harrison was Associate Justice of the California Supreme Court, and when the first state appellate court was established he was made Chief Justice of that body. He was prominent in the social life of the city, being a member of the leading clubs.

MAJOR ROOSEVELT IS SLIGHTLY WOUNDED

German Flyers Drop Note Stating Quentin Perished in Fall

Oyster Bay, N. Y.—Major Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has been slightly wounded and taken to a hospital in Paris, according to a cable message received by his father, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, from his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

A cablegram was sent from Paris where Mrs. Roosevelt is in a Red Cross hospital. It reads:

"Ted wounded. Not seriously. Here with me. Not any danger. No cause for anxiety."

Major Roosevelt was cited for gallantry after having been gassed about three weeks ago.

The news of Major Roosevelt's having been wounded followed immediately the report from Paris that German aviators had dropped a note behind the allied lines confirming fears of the death of Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt in an aerial engagement. Captain Archibald Roosevelt is recovering from wounds. A fourth son, who served as a captain in the British army in Mesopotamia, was recently appointed a Captain in the United States Army and is now reported on his way to France. He was decorated by the British with the military cross for gallantry.

On receiving confirmation of Quentin's death, Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt announced that they would receive no visitors. The Colonel made an exception in the case of the Japanese Red Cross commissioners. The Colonel sent the following reply to the White House:

"Thank you for your courtesy and kindness in telegraphing me and I deeply appreciate your expression of sympathy and of approval of my son's conduct."

Washington.—Upon learning that German aviators had confirmed the death of Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt, President Wilson sent this message to Colonel Roosevelt at Oyster Bay:

"Am greatly distressed that the news of your son's death is confirmed. He had hoped for other news. He died serving his country and died with fine gallantry. I am deeply grieved that his service should have come to this tragic end."

LT. ROOSEVELT'S DEATH HARRIED

Amsterdam.—The death of Quentin Roosevelt is confirmed by a Wolff Bureau message, according to a Beain dispatch. The story of the fatal encounter, as told by the Wolff Bureau correspondent, follows:

"On Sunday, July 14, an American squadron of twelve battle planes was trying to break through the German defense over the Marne. In the violent combat which ensued with seven German machines, one American aviator stubbornly made repeated attacks. This culminated in a duel between him and a German non-commissioned officer, who, after a short fight, succeeded in getting good aim at his brave but inexperienced opponent, whose machine fell after a few shots near the village of Chambray, ten kilometers north of the Marne."

"His pocket case showed him to be Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt of the aviation section of the United States Army. The personal belongings of the fallen aviator are being carefully kept with a view to sending them to his relatives. The earthly remains of the brave young aviator were buried with great honors by German aviators near Chambray at the spot where he fell."

Redwood City.—By 401 to 14, Redwood City July 19, voted to annex acres of land on its water front. The purpose is to bring within the city limits a suitable site for the new plant of the San Francisco Shipbuilding Company, builder of the concrete ship. The election was held under an agreement between the city and the shipbuilding company. The company agreed to build a concrete shipbuilding plant in Redwood City if a suitable site could be had within the city limits.

GUNS AND TANKS CAN'T HOLD U. S.

Kaiser's Iron Monsters Are Forced to Retreat by Hot Reception From the Americans' Artillery

With the American Army between the A-sne and the Marne.—The Franco-American troops made an advance late Friday afternoon, July 19, on the Soissons-Chateau Thierry front averaging about two kilometers (about a mile and a quarter). Vicious German machine gun fire southwest of Soissons hampered the advance for only a short period.

In the same section the Germans attempted to use tanks against the Americans, but a hot fire soon compelled the tanks to retreat.

The advance began with a barrage opening at 5:30 o'clock. Tanks were sent in by the allies to assist the infantry and machine gunners, and the Germans endeavored to stem the tide with heavy shellfire. Southwest of Soissons the Germans repeatedly attempted to reach the allies' big guns. The German firing continued until long after dark, but the French and American guns responded in kind and gave full protection to the allied forces as they advanced along the line. Several towns were captured.

Heavy reinforcements were rushed up from the north by the German command in a desperate effort to head off the hard-fighting allies, whose rapid advance would, if continued, sever the German lines of communication.

There are still strong German forces south of the Marne.

American troops continue to hold the line where on Thursday, July 18, the Germans made their first organized counter-attack. This fell down, however, as soon as the American heavy artillery got into action.

This was one of the fiercest struggles in connection with the Franco-American offensive. The battle raged southwest of Soissons for some time. It resulted in the Germans falling back finally under the rain of the heavy gunfire of the Americans.

One of the towns taken by the Americans Thursday night was Vierzy, six miles south of Soissons. Towns to the north and south of this were also taken in the carrying out of the plan to straighten the entire line on the Soissons-Chateau Thierry front.

Resistance was encountered at Vierzy or in the neighboring villages taken.

At two villages on the southern portion of the line the hands of the clocks have been set back by one hour, indicating the time the allies had started their bombardment on Thursday morning, July 18.

One of the greatest surprises for the Americans in the opening of the offensive was the flight of the Germans before the attack. The Americans, many of whom are going over the top for the first time, were fully prepared for a stiff fight, and as the hours went on without a German counter blow they began to wonder when the enemy would retaliate.

Visalia.—Surveys have been completed by C. F. Collins, the Horticultural Commissioner of this county, as a preliminary to fumigation work which will be done in citrus orchards of the county in the control of scale pests. Dr. L. O. Howard, chief of the Bureau of Entomology at Washington, is here to confer with Commissioner Collins. Due to protracted dry weather and high temperatures which prevailed late last fall, only a few orchards will need attention. The work is to be done under supervision of the county authorities.

Santa Cruz.—Edward Borocco, supposed insane, was arrested early July 19 by Sheriff H. V. Traflet at Aptos, near here, in connection with the fatal shooting of Claude P. Starrett, a motorist, on the Glenwood highway July 10. Starrett was shot from ambush after two other parties had been fired upon. Borocco, it is said, was sent to an asylum after he had run amuck in Watsonville in March, 1908.

CRUISER SAN DIEGO IS SUNK BY U-BOAT

Destroyed Vessel, Formerly California Was Built in San Francisco; Most of Crew Saved

Washington.—The Navy Department announced July 19 that information had been received that two steamships are proceeding to an unnamed port, having on board 1156 officers and men of the U. S. S. San Diego. These are in addition to the one officer and thirty men previously reported landed. The men are said to be in good condition and so far as is known no lives were lost.

Point O' Woods, N. Y.—Survivors of the United States cruiser San Diego, ten miles off Fire Island shortly before noon Friday, July 19, declared that many members of the engine room crew had been killed by the explosion which wrecked the warship. They were uncertain whether the vessel was sunk by a torpedo from a submarine or by a mine.

The cruiser remained afloat thirty-six minutes after she was struck. The torpedo or mine, struck the ship just aft of midship, blowing up the boilers. One of the sailors said the guns of the cruiser were fired at what appeared to be a periscope.

An hour before the San Diego was struck a barrel floating through the water so fast it was believed it might conceal a periscope was sighted by the lookout and a double watch was posted. According to the survivors there was no excitement after the explosion. The courage of the men maintained the traditions of the Navy. All were provided with life belts and the ship's boats were launched without mishap.

Many leaped into the water when the decks were almost awash, but were picked up by boats soon after the San Diego had been hit. Several of the small boats put ashore at Fire Island. The gunners stood by until the last that they might get a shot at the submarine.

The survivors who landed here were given food and dry clothing, after which they walked a mile across the beach to Great South Bay, where they were picked up by a motor launch and taken to West Sayville. From there they left for New York in automobiles.

Several squadrons of airplanes and dirigible put to sea soon after the San Diego had been hit. Late Friday night one of these planes, in a crippled condition was seen being towed across the Great South Bay by a patrol boat. No information was available as to how it met its mishap.

The colors of the San Diego were rescued by one of the sailors who landed here. The flag had been lashed to a bit of driftwood and was being held aloft in the boat when it came ashore. The Jackie who saved the ensign climbed up the mast to get it and then dived into the water.

None of those who came here needed medical attention, and it was believed that if there was any loss of life it was in the engine room, and was caused by the explosion of the boilers. The sailors told of the heroic deed of a quartermaster who had been ordered to stand on the bridge while the men were being sent to the boats. He remained at his post, the sailors said, until it was too late to save himself or be saved.

Just as the San Diego sank, they said, the quartermaster turned until he faced the shore, where hundreds of his comrades were floating about in boats and calmly saluted. Then he went down with his ship.

Washington.—The Navy Department announced Sunday that three men are known to be dead, forty-seven are missing and that twelve are unaccounted for as the result of the sinking of the United States cruiser San Diego Friday, July 19, off the Long Island coast. The men unaccounted for are believed to have been on leave.

Merced.—Flights and feasts by military airplanes will soon be a common sight here when a suitable forty-acre site is selected for use as a landing place for the cross-country flights of cadets from Mather field, Sacramento.

San Rafael.—Fire which got out of the control of charcoal burners, fanned by a high wind, swept over nearly 135 acres of timber and brush land on the estate of Dr. William Bodkin, ten miles north of San Rafael Sunday afternoon.

Covelo.—A fire in the fields of the Round Valley Land Company July 17 spread to the adjoining property of D. T. Johnson and destroyed nearly 200 acres of barley and hay. The loss was about evenly divided between the two owners.

Woodland.—High mercuries and the idle season are failing to interfere with the sale of thrift stamps at the Woodland postoffice. According to Postmaster E. I. Leake's half-month report, $20,000 worth of baby bonds have been sold since July 1, or an average of more than $1000 a day. The sales during June totaled approximately $600,000.

Richmond.—Industrial development here has been on a greater scale than even the people of Richmond themselves realized, for figures just compiled show that the pay roll of this city is now $3,000,000 a year. The figures were compiled for local commercial organizations by Charles J. Cray, president of the First National Bank, who bases the total on the checks actually passing through the four banks of the city. This pay roll indicates an increase of $2,400,000 in the last three years.

Merced.—All Mariposa county is shocked over the killing of J. W. Varian, aged 25 years, by his 19-year-old wife, Mrs. Grace Varian, which occurred Thursday, July 18, at the Virginia mine at Coulterville, news of which reached here last Saturday. Mrs. Varian went to the mine where her husband was working and shot him. There was no witness to the tragedy and not even the report of the gun was heard, but immediately after the shooting the young wife told one of her husband's fellow employees.

CROWD ON BEACH AT CAPE COD SHELLED

Enemy Submarine Attacks and Sinks Three Barges Being Towed

Orleans, Mass.—A German submarine attacked the tug Perth Amboy of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and her four barges 3 miles off this town on the southeastern elbow of Cape Cod at 10:30 A. M. Sunday. The one-sided battle lasted one hour and a half. The tug was burned to the water's edge by shell fire, while the barges were sunk by gun fire.

The barges were bound from Gloucester for New York and one was loaded with stone.

Of the forty-one persons, including three women and five children, on board, three men—Captain Charles Ainslie of the barge Lansford and John Balovich and John Vitz, Austrian members of the tug crew, were wounded. Balovich probably will lose an arm. Vitz had one hand blown off. Captain Ainslie was wounded in both arms by shrapnel.

The attack was witnessed by large crowds of natives and summer visitors who had flocked to the Cape for the week end, seeking relief from the heat wave.

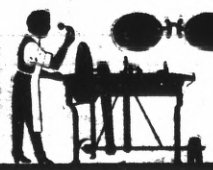

All accounts agreed that the submarine's shooting was very bad. Her torpedo was no better. According to Captain Ainslie, she launched three torpedoes at the tug and all went wild. The attack occurred only a few miles from the naval aviation station at Chatham. Three seaplanes attacked the raider with bombs. The fire was returned, but the U-boat submerged and was last seen heading south.

SEE BEARDS IN FASHION.

London newspapers are predicting the full beard will come into fashion both in Europe and America as a result of the war. War has always influenced the style in whichers, even in the times of Alexander the Great, who required his soldiers to shave off their beards because a beard was a handle which an enemy could seize. The Crimean war in the fifties brought the full beard into fashion again. In that campaign British soldiers spent months in the trenches, where they had no chance to shave. Their beards grew, and they wore them when they returned to England. The English papers say that many soldiers coming home from the trenches are bearded, and, unless precedents fail, the full beard is going to come into fashion again. Show our American troops return from the war with beards, we may look for that fashion to again become prevalent in America as it did after the Civil War.—Capper's Weekly.

John, do you think it is right?
Can we really claim its fair,
With him in that poisoned air,
And dying for all we know?
He needs the work of the shop
Where roaring furnaces glow
And hammers ring blow on blow.
Is it fair that your tools you drop
And say to the engines, stop!
When we've not an hour to spare?

Quicksilver mining around Placerville is threatened as ore is being depleted and costs of operation rising.

Social health insurance as advocated in several states would come nearer Prussianizing this nation than any measure we could adopt.

Eleven river steamers lines have been granted an increase in freight rates of 25 per cent.

The Philippine Islands will send us 175,000 tons of sugar. Java has 1,500,000 tons of the 1917 crop on hand and will produce this year 2,000,000 tons, largely to be marketed in the United States.

Metal production of all kinds needs encouragement to the fullest extent and gold production also needs special attention to stop rapidly decreasing production due to increased cost and inflexible price of the yellow metal.

Producers of crude oil and manufacturers of oil products are much discouraged by the Federal Trade Commission charges of excessive profiteering. The accusations are not borne out by figures, they say. The oil industry has had plenty of opportunities to profiteer on gasoline with sound business reasons back of it, but it has not done so. The steady price of that commodity compared to its fluctuations in other countries shows patriotic impulses are not dead in oil men.

CONSERVE ELECTRICITY

Patriotism demands that you save electricity for war purposes.

Northern and Central California have a serious power shortage because of lack of rain during the past winter and the increased use of electricity by war industries.

THESE WAR INDUSTRIES MUST HAVE POWER

There is not enough power for everybody at the present rate of consumption. It is up to you to save. Turn off your lights whenever possible and use lower power lamps.

This is one other thing you can do in the great struggle.

"ZEROLENE is the best"

—Say leading motor car distributors, because the records of their service departments show that ZEROLENE, correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude, gives perfect lubrication with less wear and less carbon deposit.

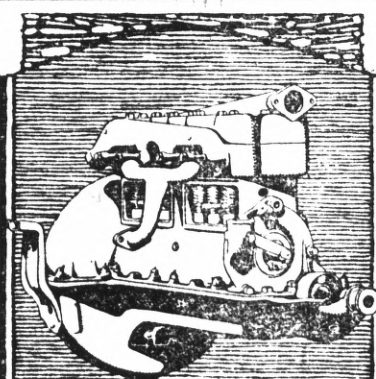

Most cars are now lubricated with ZEROLENE because their owners have learned through experience that there is no better oil.

ZEROLENE reduces wear and gives more power because it keeps its lubricating body at cylinder heat. Less carbon because, being made from asphalt-base crude, it burns clean and goes out with exhaust.

ZEROLENE is the correct oil for all types of automobile engines. It is the correct oil for your automobile. Get our lubrication chart showing the correct consistency for your car.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (California)

Correct Lubrication for the Ford Engine

The Ford automobile engine, illustrated here, is a four-cylinder, internal combustion engine of the "L"-Head type. This engine, like all internal combustion engines, requires an oil that maintains its full lubricating qualities at cylinder heat, burns clean in the combustion chambers and goes out with exhaust. ZEROLENE LIGHT fills these requirements perfectly, because it is correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude.

ZEROLENE is made in several consistencies to meet with scientific exactness the lubrication needs of all types of automobile engines. Get our "Correct Lubrication Chart" covering your car. At dealers everywhere and Standard Oil Service Stations.
